Chinese servants are paid so much a month, out of which they find their own "chow," or food, though no doubt much from the master's table finds its way into the servants' quarters.

The cook orders the food and gets a "squeeze," or percentage, on all the bills.

Chinese servants are most capable in an emergency, and many are the amusing and true stories that could be told

The question of housing on the frontier demands immediate attention. Neither dwellings nor hospitals are at present in sufficient quantity to meet the needs of the immegration situation. For the moment Poland is strong nough to stand sponsor for her western areas; for the central zone she is fearful; on the eastern frontier she cannot cope with the epidemic menace alone. To elaborate a plan of campaign is the work of the conference. For help in putting it into action Poland must look to others.

The No. 1 boys always help each other out in case of emergency.

Here is a story htat is too good to be missed. The cooks often have "makee-learns," or apprentices, to assist them and they become very proficient. The mistress rarely goes into the kitchen and does not usually see the cook unless she is arranging for a big party.

One day three ladies were walking along a road, when a Chinaman ambled past them, grinning as he raised his hat.

"My cook," said one lady.
